

Spring Cleaning

Just like everything else around the house your Dillon Precision Reloader needs a good cleaning every once in a while. Cleaning keeps the machine running smoothly and extends the life of the various parts of the press. Once this "Spring Cleaning" is done you will need to relubricate the press before you resume making ammo. We have videos covering all of our consumer grade machines on our site, DillonPrecision.com, and our YouTube Channel. The video below covers our most popular press The RL 550B. We will be making an updated video for the RL 550C in the future.
